

2010 Manual of Regulations for Private School – Basic Education

Section 69. Duties of a School Teaching Personnel.

- To teach subjects or perform school assignments effectively, observe regular attendance in his work, and give fair and just ratings to his students on the basis of prescribed standards;
- To recognize and respect the rights of his school superiors, co-workers and students;
- To teach by precepts and example in terms of excellence and personal integrity;
- To refrain from discussing matters outside the scope of his course or discipline inside the classroom;
- To enforce the reasonable rules, standards, and policies of his school with objectivity and to maintain at all times good discipline among his students inside or outside the classroom;
- To broaden and update his competence through reading professional and scientific publications and journals, and when appropriate through purposeful participation in local and national meetings, seminars, conferences, workshops, and other similar for a;
- To conscientiously fulfill the terms and conditions of his employment for the period of time agreed upon and to give the school administration a reasonable time to assign his replacement when he decides to terminate his relationship with the school;
- To avoid any professional or personal action or activity which may result in economic loss or legal and social embarrassment of his /school;
- To state clearly, when giving out public statements, whether he speaks as an official representative of his school or as an individual citizen.